Assignments

Quizzes (20%)

Most weeks that cover a textbook chapter will include a quiz. Generally, a quiz will have at least 10 questions (e.g., multiple choice, true/false, or free response) based on the assigned reading and videos for that particular week. Your two lowest quiz grades will be dropped. Also, the syllabus quiz will count as a regular quiz. While I do accept late submissions, there will be a late penalty.

Discussions (20%)

There are five discussion assignments in this course. Some discussion threads might focus on a current event in American politics, while other discussions will examine the structure of the federal government. The purpose of the discussions is for students to demonstrate their knowledge of course material and engage with other students on important topics in American politics.

For each discussion, you will be required to make an initial post in which you answer the question(s) posed in the prompt. After you make your initial post, you must read the posts from your fellow classmates and make two additional posts in response to posts from other students. While I do accept late discussion assignments, there is a late penalty. Each discussion assignment will have detailed instructions.

Short Answer Assignments (30%)

There are four short answer assignments in this course. Each assignment will ask you to answer a series of questions covering important material from the textbook and lectures. It is important that you accurately answer all parts of the questions and cite the textbook (or another reputable source) to support your answers. All short answer assignments will be submitted through Blackboard. Late short answer assignments will be accepted, but there is a late penalty.

Essay (10%)

There is one essay in this course with a required word count of at least 500 words. Detailed instructions will be provided in Blackboard.

Exams (20%)

There are two exams (midterm and final) in this course. Both exams will have a combination of multiple-choice, true/false, and free response questions.
